Curvature of the Spine.

DR. HAMILTON,
No. 47, North Gay street, Baltimore,

HAVING turned much of his attention during a long practice to the diseases of the Spine, begs leave to tender his services for the cure or relief of that afflicting malady. The approach of this disease is easily detected by an attentive observer. It makes its appearance generally in children between the second and sixth year; a protuberance of one or more of the small bones composing the spine becomes evident, loss of appetite, irregularity of the bowels, and emaciation soon follow, together with much disinclination to walk—and unless immediate aid is obtained, death or incurable decripitude through life are the certain consequences.

Doctor Hamilton has the satisfaction of knowing that his treatment of this disease, and application of the necessary apparatus, which is simplified at the same time, that it is materially improved, have received the unqualified approbation of many of the most eminent of his medical brethren in Baltimore. Spring corsets, upon a new principle, can be applied for the use of young ladies evincing a tendency to this disease, which, while they afford the most effectual support for either side, may be worn without observation. Satisfactory references might be given to parents whose children have profited by this improved mode of treatment, did not delicacy forbid the publication: they may be easily obtained if desired, by a private interview.

March 15 A P. GOVER.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.

GAZETTE
AND
Alexandria Daily Advertiser.

PUBLISHED BY
SAMUEL SNOWDEN,
ROYAL-STREET.

Daily Gazette, 7 dolls...Country, 5 dolls.

MONDAY, MAY 10, 1819.

FOR THE GAZETTE.

Metaphysicians teach us that the excellence of the human mind consist in the due balance and adjustment of its three constituent attributes—Imagination, Memory and Judgment; and the Genius of the individual is formed and modified according to the predominance of one or other of these features. The following address is to the last mentioned qualification:

ADDRESS TO GOOD SENSE.

To Fancy let the poet raise
His boldest and his wildest lays,—
To Memory grateful tribute pour,
For all her rich collected store;
To thee Good Sense I lowly bow,
To thee I pay my sober vow.
Simple thine air, thine eye serene;
Thy charms more valued as more seen;
Proportion o'er thy form presides,
Utility thy motion guides:
Without thy genuine stamp imprest,
Vainly is Mental wealth possest;
In vain Imagination warms,
Creating gay or solemn forms;
In vain is Memory's crowded store;
And vain the scholar's ancient lore:
Without thy ballast in the mind,
The vessel veers with every wind:
Even virtue swerves without thy aid,
By sudden gusts of passion sway'd;
And Genius, an unrooted flower,
Blossoms and withers in an hour.
Oh! thou, to whom I lowly bend,
Do thou thy votary's prayer attend;
Do thou her steady pilot be,
To guide her through life's shoaly sea;
Should she in Fancy's air baloon
Mount to steal radiance from the moon,
Then sudden sink, with curious eye,
To search where fancy's glow-worms lie,
Do thou her giddy flight restrain,
And call her back to earth again;
Let her thy temperate medium know,
Nor rise too high, nor sink too low.

From the New-York Daily Advertiser.

The Quarterly Review, an English periodical publication, is regularly re-published in this city by Messrs. Kirk & Mercein, and, with the exception of its political character, is one of the most interesting, instructive and entertaining works of the kind in the world. In the number for December, 1818, there is a great variety of amusing matter, from which we have already published several extracts.—Among the articles reviewed is a French work by the Marquis Dangeau, a courtier of Louis XIV. published by the celebrated Madame de Genlis, which we have read with a good deal of pleasure, as containing lively sketches of the manners of the time particularly of the court of that magnificent monarch. Among the passages quoted from this work, we were not a little amused with one which is characteristic of the period in which it was written, viz. at the close of the 17th century—but which must at this time excite a smile on the countenance of every one by whom it is read.

"A ship," says M. Dangeau, "arrived at La Rochelle from Canada with accounts that our colonies are in want of speedy succours. The Bishop of Quebec has sent missionaries into parts which have hitherto been considered as imaginary. He reports that he has discovered a people whose hair, both of the head and body is like the plumage of parrots; and another of which all the men are hump-backed, and the women lame." Where these imaginary regions, peopled with such an extraordinary race of men and women, lay, we must depend, altogether upon conjecture for the discovery. The Jesuits and other Catholic missionaries, were very bold and adventurous, and explored many distant and barbarous regions in the remote parts of the globe. But as these missionaries from Quebec must have confined their travels to this continent, we are led to conclude that not only the regions, but the people who inhabited them, were alike imaginary, or else that they were fortunate enough to discover some secluded spot that has never since been visited by civilized man—for it is very certain, that among all the varieties of Indians that have been discovered and known by common people, since the time of the landing at Plymouth, to the establishment of the garrison at the "Yellow Stone," there has not been seen any tribe with parrot's feathers instead of hair, nor where the men were all hump-backed, or the women all lame.

To attempt to explain this phenomenon, is a task too hard for us to encounter. It may, however, be suggested, that many persons suppose the Indians who inhabit North America, were some how descended from the Jews, & that, after the Babylonish captivity, they found means in some mode or other, to transport themselves to this continent, and here, being secluded from all intercourse with civilized man, finally degenerated into mere wild Indians. Now, if this idea be well founded, may it not be possible that, from revenge or some other motive, they might have brought off with themselves some of the descendants of Nebuchadnezzar, and that having landed them in our wilderness, they became the founders of a race whose hair was like eagles feather's instead of parrot's." If this be not a satisfactory account of the subject, we can conveive of no other probable solution of the wonder, except it be, that these people with feather beards, and humpbacks, and lame legs, might have been Indian Dandies, who disdaining the plain effeminacy of their brethren who had no beards, resolved to wear those ot the most formidable description, and by the aid of "Indian barbers and doctors," had found means to "snarl" and paint their coarse lank hair into something resembling their bird's feathers, and by such means to distingush themselves from common Indians, in the same manner, and with the same success, that modern dandies contrive to deprive themselves of the human shape and figure.

Police Office,
City of New-York, May 3, 1819.

The following letter was placed some weeks since in possession of the police magistrates of this city. They immediately acted, as far forth as their means admitted on the information it contains. A duplicate has been transmitted to the magistrates in Cincinnati. In consequence of the total want of pecuniary resources to develope a conspiracy of such magnitude, the magistrates in this office have concluded to place it, for the purpose of precaution, before the public. The writer is known to them, but at present, is not within their power. It is believed that L. J. P. has exaggerated—yet there is no doubt of the process of a forgery extensive beyond precedent.

Cincinnati, (Ohio,) September, 1818.

Sir—I have succeeded beyond my most sanguine expectations in getting plates engraved. I have employed Mr. "J. W." to engrave plates for the list you last forwarded me. He is a most superior engraver; but as he will not be able to execute the whole as soon as I could wish, he has employed a Mr. "L. R." and Mr. "N. P." to assist him. Mr. "N. P." is also an excellent engraver.

Since I left New-York, I have had employed no less than seven engravers, all of them pretty good workmen—but you must be sensible, that it would require a great many to perform the work I have had done. They have all of them, except Mr. "N. P." engaged to take the bills we shall have struck from the plates of their own engraving, in pay for the work. Mr. "N. P." is such an infernal coward, he will not consent to take any part of his pay in his own notes, so that I wish you would forward me a hundred or more dollars in good money, as soon as you receive this. We shall feel the loss of Mr. Emmons very much. You have doubtless heard the particulars of his apprehension and confinement, for being concerned in robbing the Farmers and Mechanics bank of Pittsburg. I cautioned him against having any concern in it, but he would not hear me. I would not have believed him such a cursed fool, as to have disclosed the whole transaction, and where the money was concealed. You have doubtless heard the particulars of this affair from some of our associates, as it occurred last spring.

A Pittsburg paper of the 5th June mentions the circumstance. I must confess I have had some fears that the poor penitent sinner would disclose something that would send our plans all to the devil, if not us with them. However, the time has passed on so long, that I think we may consider ourselves pretty secure. If you have as good success in procuring paper for the bills as I have had in getting the plates, we shall be able to inundate the whole United States and Canada. If we undertake to despatch business on the scale we have commenced, we shall require at least three printing presses: the expense of erecting these, you know, will be no object. I should think well of having one in New-York under your immediate inspection; one in Boston, under the direction of Mr. "L. S. B." and one at this place which I will undertake the charge of myself.

As the bills of the banks in your state are generally more current in the different sections of the union, you will perceive by the following list I have had more plates made for them than any others. To give you an idea of the unprecedented success I have had, I will give you a list of plates I have got under way, proceeding in alphabetical order, viz.—Albany bank, Aqueduct Association, Auburn bank, Boston do. Bridgport, Baltimore, Chester, Catskill, Columbia at Hudson, do. at Washington City, Cape Fear, Derby, Delaware county, Delaware Bridge Company, Eagle bank of New-Haven, Farmer's and Mechanic's bank, Albany, Farmer's bank of Buck's co. Pennsylvania, Farmer's bank of Virginia, Geneva bank, Germantown do. Hudson do. Hartford do. Jefferson county do. Lansingburgh do. Morristown do. Middletown do. Middle District do. Mount Holly do. Newburgh do. Newark do. New-Haven do. New-York state do. Niagara do. New-London do. Newbern do. Ontario do. Providence do. Philadelphia banks generally, Phœnix do. Hartford, Plattsburgh do. Salem do, of Massachusetts, Silver Lake do. State banks of New-Jersey, Troy bank, Utica do. U. States' do. (Tho', by the bye, I forgot to tell you, I almost despaired of finding an engraver, who would undertake to copy Uncle Sam's plate, being much more difficult than the others, but Mr. "I. W." has done it to a title; and on comparing it with a genuine bill, you can perceive no difference at all except it may be the engraving may be a little more bold, but this difference may be owing to our trying on paper that was whiter than the genuine bills are done on); to proceed, Virginia bank, Washington & Warren do. Washington do. of the District of Columbia, all the banks of the city of New-York. On most of the above banks I have plates for a number of different sized bills.

Please to write me, and tell whether you have lately heard from Mr. 'W. L.' and 'R. G.' who were in Canada when you wrote me last, and what success they have had. I think it would be well for you to look out for about a dozen good, trusty, bold, active, sly, cunning, sharp, keen, smooth, honest fellows, as we can find full employ for them in a short time; but above all act with the most profound secrecy and circumspection, but you know how to act as well as I can tell you. If all goes on as well as the last six months, in six months more we shall be able to astonish the whole world, though we shall doubtless receive their execrations; yet no matter for that, "we are all honest enough till we are found out." If ever men under Heaven got rich, we must; that is, if five millions of dollars divided among us can make us so—dollars I say, for bank bills are called dollars, and the devil himself could not distinguish ours from genuine. There is no doubt we shall ruin every banking establishment in the United States, but every tub must stand upon its own bottom, as the saying is. I must not forget to tell you I had a narrow escape from getting married since I have been here, to a Miss ——, a most bewitching little urchin, possessed of a handsome fortune: but an old uncle of hers, a cunning old dog, wished to make some enquiry about my affairs, and I being a little reserved, and giving him an evasive answer, the old impertinent puppy had the impudence to order me to quit the house, which I did, which is the last time I heard from them.

I write by Mr. H——, whom I directed to call on you in person. He can give you further particulars respecting our operations. You will perceive I neither inserted number nor street on the envelope enclosing this, not knowing whose hands it might fall into.

Your's obsequiously,
(Signed) L. J. P——.

NB—You need not be cautioned to burn this as soon as read.

Baltimore, May 7.

Yesterday in the Circuit Court of the United States, now sitting in this city, came on the trial of Leonard Nott, a coloured man, charged with cutting open and robbing the United States' mail near Bladensburg, on Christmas last. It appeared in evidence that the brother of the prisoner found the mail in the road and brought it to the prisoner's house, where the bag was cut open. When the case was submitted to the jury, without retiring from the box they pronounced him guilty.

The man who found the mail died in prison some time after his arrest.

Philip Marett, Portuguese Vice Consul, residing at Boston, has given notice of a new regulation, to be observed by those trading to his Portuguese Majesty's dominions, vice:

The Role d'Equipage, Invoice and Bill of Lading and Bill of Health, must be certified by the Vice Consul of the District whence she departs. The manifest of the whole cargo, specifying the marks, shippers and consignees of the same, signed by the master, and certified by the Vice Consul, shall be produced on the arrival at the port of destination. Supercargoes and passengers to be provided with passports.

From the New-York Evening Post,
SOUTH AMERICA.

By the arrival of the Sachem from Buenos Ayres, which she left on the 9th of March, news has been received from some of the passengers of an interesting nature; the particulars are partly given in the Mercantile Advertiser of this morning, which are copied as far as they go, and we should be enabled to give the remainder, were it not that the manuscript of 12 pages, which has politely been sent us, is quite illegible as to the proper names. The following additional particulars are made out with difficulty:

"Mr. W. arrived at the 6 mile de San Luis a few hours after the killing of general Ordonnis and 32 other royal Spanish officers, on the 6th day of February. He immediately waited on the governor Dupuy, who told him that these Spanish officers had been in the habit of visiting him without ceremony since they had been sent to the Punta—that they often took a family breaktast or dinner or other refreshments at his house whenever they chose; indeed they were upon a freindly intercourse; and that one particularly, colonel — —, when he was sent there, had been recommended to his polite attention by gen. San Martin, who knew either him or his family when the general was in Spain—that on the morning of the rising of those prisoners, five or six of them, of whom were general Ordonnis and this col. came into his house about 10 o'clock in the morning—at first he supposed it was a usual friendly visit, but they very soon undeceived him, by seizing his arms, &c. about the same moment the cry of viva la patria! was heard in the streets. The Spaniards seemed astonished at this, and the governor told them, 'gentlemen, you see the town is yours; I am in your power; but unless you permit me to go out and quiet the people, they will commit violence, and perhaps break in and massacre all of you. I will go out and quiet them.' He went to the street door or gateway, which the Spaniards had pulled to on their entering, and immediately saw that the street was full of people, and that the prisoners at the guard house over the way, who had attempted to rise at the same moment that he had been attacked in his house, had not succeeded but had been overpowered. He then explained briefly to the people in the street, how he was placed inside of the house, and they rushed in, and in a few minutes cut the throats of the Spaniards, and killed the others who had attempted to rise at the guard-house. The governor had his right eye much bruised, and showed Mr. W. the poignards of those who had entered and seized him, they were long buckhorn English carving knives filed very sharp on each side for three or four inches up from the point.

Mr. W, did not confide in the governor's statement only—he had it corroborated by Dr. Manuel Saratea, who was exiled from Buenos Ayres & then in San Luis, of course no friend to the administration. Mr. Sarates is pretty well known both in the U. States and Europe—he had no doubt of the plot being real as represented—also Mr. W. had it from an English merchant living at San Luis, and other persons on the spot, who never intimated that it was a fictitious revolt to cover assassination. Yet, on hearing of this affair at Buenos Ayres, many old Spaniards, Mr. W. was told, applied for pasports to leave the country, supposing it the commencement of a sort of reign of terror.

Mr. W. does not enter into the merits or demerits of this affair. But as he thinks the patriots were not guilty of fabricating a plot in this instance so far as his opinions are of service to them and their cause, they have it.

"The congress, on the 12th of December last, by a public decree acknowledged Chili 'as a free state, sovereign and independent, with all the attributes and plenitude of power which are inherent to the great and elevated character,' and in form waited on the chief deputy residing in Buenos Ayres,

"Change of Administration.—It was said at Buenos Ayres, and generally believed that, general San Martin was on his way to the city with his army of about 3,000; and that on the retirement of the present director, he would be pressed to accept the executive chair.

"State of the Market.—The place full of European and India goods—in consequence of heavy rains the crops of wheat had been injured—it was selling as high as 15 dols per fanega—but large orders had gone to Chili where it might be had for 1 25."

VENEZUELA,

Extracts, Port of Spain, Trinidad, March 4

A steam boat is established from this place to St. Fernando, since December last and performs the trip in nine hours; the journey by land heretofore was four days; I went on board and in two hours and an half we had passed the passage of the Dragon's mouth, and might have arrived at Tobago in 18 or 20 hours; the boat going with perfect ease from 6 to 7 miles an hour, and will perform the voyage to Angostura and back in five days. The government at Angostura has given great encouragement to this undertaking, and the vessel will depart in a few days for that place. This vessel has stowage for 26 oxen, and forage so that we shall be abundantly supplied thence with fresh meat in future; no duties are levied on the imports or exports in this vessel, at Angostura.

The affairs of the patriots on the main, brighten every hour; in January last, a grand coup de guerre was executed by their general Paez, he suddenly abandoned St. Ferdinando d'Apure, and no one could account for his precipitate retreat—soon after Morillo's force took possession of this deserted post, and pursued Paez across the Aruare; it was now soon perceived why the Patriot general had retired; and that he had completely overcome the caution of the wily royalist, who paid dearly for the want of his usual discretion. The cavalry of Paez was so disposed as to permit the passage of the royal troops until they had reached a point from which they could be effectually intercepted—and this being effected, the detached corps of Morillo, successively fell into ambush or were cut off from their main body; while the means of subsistence were every where intercepted it was now that Morillo first discovered the snare that had been laid for him; and with great decision immediately recommenced his retreat, in which he was incessantly harrassed by the patriot cavalry.

General St. Ander had been previously posted at Cassanare, with a respectable force from New-Grenada; and col. Nonoto Peroz, who was in command of the upper Apure, acting in co-operation with the troops, which attacked several of the advanced posts of the royalists, and cut them off, as well as the supplies of cattle and other subsistance that had been drawn by the route of Cucuta, on the southern border of Maracaibo. About the close of Feb. gen. Bolivar left Angostura with 2000 men destined to join Paez on the Apure: about 500 European troops of different nations, embodied at Angostura, were about to pursue the same route.—About 1600 men were hourly expected to join the patriots from Europe; who were destined to follow the preceding. Four transports with about seven hundred troops have arrived at Margaritta, and several more are expected.—A large expedition is in preparation at that island, probably against Cumana and Barcelona, under general Urdaneta, and other officers, English and S. American.

The patriots have organized an army of reserve, composed of the division of Cumana, Barcelona, and Llanos of Caracas—they have also a great supply of arms, amunition, clothing, &c. from Europe, and the naval force under Admiral Brion, is very respectable at this time, and well supplied. There is reason to believe that with such means as the Patriots now possess, the final expulsion of the royalists from the main is near at hand.

A great change has evidently taken place in the public administration of the affairs of Venezuela. In October last, an excellent measure was taken for the session of the congress of Venezuela, which was to be assembled at Angostura on the 1st day of January of this year, but the situation of the country prevented the appearance of two thirds of the delegates—in consequence of which, those who assembled adjourned to meet again on the 15th February.—There are many able and honest men in that government at this moment, and many very momentous questions are under their deliberation—the Union of New Granada, and Venezuela, particularly attracts a deep attention—the financial concerns also obtain that consideration which in these times is so indispensable a matter of policy. It has been suggested for example, that a particular appropriation of the duties on imports, shall be employed for the double purpose of the service of the state, and the circulation in exchanges—the amount of duties accruing in each month, to be distributed into three periods of payment, of one month each, on the part of the importer, who must give such securities as will guarrantee the payments with punctuality at each several period; the amount of each instalment, to be formed into drafts of the treasury drawn upon the importer or consignee, and those drafts to be accepted by the importer or consignee, countersigned at the public treasury, and put into circulation both for disbursements and receipts for the public service and secured by the public faith without defalcation—thus the artifices of the custom houses and fiscal officers are all at once controled.

It has been suggested, also, that to establish public credit at home and abroad, two thirds of the amount of the sales of public lands, and other sequestrated property of every kind, shall be exclusively appropriated to the payment of any debts already contracted, or hereafter to be contracted for the public service—and also a third of the amount of the revenue on tobacco, which is to undergo a special regulation conformable to the nature of the new institutions; part of these funds, will, it is said be appropriated to the payment of interests, which will probably be eight per cent per an. on public loans; a tenth part of the amount of customs, and one third of the product of the revenue on Tobacco, are proposed to be the fund for this purpose, and must be more than adequate.

The lands as well as the sequestrated property, will not be put at sale until peace is completely established, unless to those military invalids, or foreimigrants from other countries, who bring with them useful arts, or who mean to devote themselves to agriculture wholly; for such as these, lands will be appropriated at any time. The deferring of the general sale of lands until a peace is to prevent great monopolies, among influential individuals, as well as to enable the state to profit by the enhancement of the price which must necessarily arise from the restoration of security and agriculture and trade.

Some proposals have been made by English houses to the government of Venezuela, for the privileges of exporting the celebrated tobacco of Varinas: the overture was very alluring to the government as it promised large funds for their immediate use, and the liquidation of the two and a half million of dollars already obtained; but to the credit of the government the overture, though received with great attention, and acknowledgements of thanks, was rejected; upon the principal that monopolies were incompatible and dangerous, as well as invasions of the private rights of the people at large. They appear to have profited by the errors of other nations in their hostility to monopolies.

These facts will shew you that my former opinions of the success and of the capacity of those people, have undergone a change. I confess it; I see approaching a period when those who treat them as gueux —will be as much disconcerted as the Spaniards of old in regard to the Netherlanders."

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. The estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in woods—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

ROMULUS RIGGS,

At his Exchange and Brokers Office, Bridge-street, Georgetown,

WISHES to purchase from one to fifty thousand dollars of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia bank notes, which will be taken at a very small discount. All kinds of western and other uncurrent bank notes exchanged on the lowest terms.—Persons travelling to the westward can at all times get the notes of these banks at a reasonable discount.—Bills of exchange and bank checks, negociated on any part of the United States.—Notes of United States bank, and all of the branches, exchanged.

Georgetown, one door below Crawford's tavern, October 17.

Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18
